Wood and stainless steel are the perfect combination in the kitchen. The contrast between the clean modern look of stainless steel and the rustic warmth of wood creates a timeless and inviting esthetic.

The combination also results in a highly functional kitchen that is easy to keep clean and is fun to use!

FEATURES

- Butcher block counters are a perfect combination of beauty and function
- Built from select hard rock maple that will last for generations
- The end-grain work surface is easy on knives and resists nicks and gouges, preventing bacteria from penetrating the wood
- Available with a urethane oil finish to bring out the natural beauty of the wood
